

Hometown Heroes: Mumbai Mets' Winning Streak

Dear Parents !Did you hear about the HMPS ICSE students Ansh Mehta, Satvik Pawar, and Adhiraj Mane? Well, these talented kids recently participated in their school's baseball team and totally nailed it! Ansh showed off his skills , while Satvik and Adhiraj held it down . It's always awesome to see young athletes getting involved in sports outside of the traditional school setting, and these three definitely proved that they have what it takes to compete at a high level. Keep an eye out for these future baseball stars, because who knows - maybe we'll be seeing them on the big leagues someday!

Great job, guys!

57 kgs plastic Keith Patrick Cardoz 3B HMPS ICSE.

Keith Patrick Cardoz from 3B at HMPS ICSE managed to collect a whopping 57 kgs of plastic! Impressive, right? It's so important for us to be mindful of our plastic usage and to take action in reducing its negative impact on the environment. Every little bit helps, and Keith sure did his part. Whether it was picking up litter on the school grounds or leading a recycling drive, his efforts have made a real difference. It's great to see young people like him taking such initiative and showing that anyone can make a positive impact on the world around them. Keep up the good work, Keith!

Exclusion Culture

They bring nine chairs for ten children, and they tell the children that the winner is the one who gets the chair, and whoever remains without a chair is out of the game.

Then they reduce the number of chairs each time and a child comes out every time
Until one child remains and he is declared the winner.

The child learns the culture of "Myself, myself, and in order to succeed, I must remove others."

And in Japanese kindergartens, they play the game of chairs too.

And they also come with nine chairs for ten kids, with a difference !

There they tell the children that you have no more chairs.

If one of you remains without a chair, everyone loses.

All the children try to hug each other so that all ten children can sit on nine chairs.

And then they reduce the number of chairs successively with the rule remaining that they must make sure that no one remains without a chair or else they will all lose.

The child learns culture

"I cannot succeed without the help of others to succeed"!

From Exclusion to Inclusion

The future of humanity lies in cooperation, not in competition... !!
